School Case Postponed by Dist. Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A hearing in the Crawfordsville school desegregation case scheduled for Thursday has been postponed because of the illness of U.S. District Court Judge Gordon E. Young.

The judge's office said Monday that Young entered a Little Rock hospital Sunday night for treatment of a bleeding ulcer. He is expected to be hospitalized about two weeks.

The Justice Department is seeking a court order requiring the school board at Crawfordsville to consolidate its two schools.

The board contends that the only feasible desegregation plan for the district is freedom of choice.

The board said white patrons would abandon the system rather than send their children to a predominantly Negro school.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Merv Griffin and company moved smoothly if uneventfully onto the CBS network Monday night, turning the network's battle for the late-night audience into a three-way contest.

Viewers who enjoyed the Griffin style during his years in syndication probably will like it equally in its new setting.

Griffin's first show seemed deliberately low key and almost folksy. His guest list was about par for any Monday—Woody Allen and Mervyn Dole for comedy, Leslie Uggams with a couple of musical numbers, Hedy Lamarr for nostalgic glamor, and Kennedy associate Theodore Sorenson for a bit of political spice.

The show gave the network censors no particular problems but the mix of guests failed to result in anything scintillating. There were even moments when the conversation jogged along with awkward pauses.

Sorenson admitted he was thinking about running for the U.S. Senate from New York. Miss Lamarr confessed she really wanted to be "a simple complicated person." Allen just wanted people to go see his latest movie. And Miss Uggams mostly just sang.

The theater from which the show now comes is more ornate than the old one and the stage sets more elaborate. Arthur Treacher is back as Merv's sidekick after major surgery. Allen's appearance plugging a movie is typical of the genre. Network productions outside prime-time hours often are used by the networks as promotion vehicles for other programs on the network.

NBC's Johnny Carson and ABC's Joey Bishop both have stars of upcoming series and specials as guests whose most important assignment is to plug the product.

CBS formerly used daytime shows with celebrity panels for show plugs but since the demise of "Password," "To Tell the Truth" and others, CBS has been handicapped in this area.

Griffin's new late-night show thus probably will help. One of his first guests was Miss Uggams, whose CBS variety show will start soon.

Patriot Fans Counting on New Coach

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Clive Rush, the Boston Patriots' new coach, is the first to admit he doesn't own any magic wand, but the American Football League club is counting on him to lead it out of the wilderness.

Despite Rush's repeated statements that it will take time to rebuild a winner, Patriots' loyal fans are confident that he can produce—an in a hurry—after a general house-cleaning which started when Mike Holovak was fired as general manager and coach after a 4-10 record in 1968.

After being lured from the world champion New York Jets, where he tutored Joe Namath, Rush promised "to do anything we need to improve ourselves." One of his first moves was to hire George Sauer, player personnel director of the Jets, as general manager.

"It took us six years of frustration and hard work to build a winner in New York," Rush says. "The challenge offered there was a special thing. Now we have another challenge—a new and bigger one." Rush moved quickly. He retained only one of Holovak's assistants, defensive line coach Jesse Richardson. He hired as new assistants former Navy coach Bill Elias, John Mazur of the Buffalo Bills, Bruce Beatty of Northwestern, Jerry Stoltz of Purdue and young John Stoltz of Purdue and young John Meyer of the Houston Oilers.

In swift action in one day, he traded two all-league players, Middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti was sent to Miami for Kim Hammond and John Bramlett, while cornerback Leroy Mitchell was shipped to Houston for veterans Larry Carwell, Ron Caveness, Charlie Frazier and Sid Blanks.

Although Bramlett and Caveness are sidelined with injuries, hurting the linebacking corps, the Patriots appear much better off than in their demoralizing 1968 season. The big weakness appears to be a lack of depth.

In their debut under Rush, Boston defeated Cincinnati. The Patriots bowed to Atlanta last weekend, but Rush was satisfied with the play of his top offensive and defensive units.

Mike Taliaferro, Namath's understudy at New York before he came to Boston and was sidelined with a sore arm last year, seems to have nailed down the quarterback job. Taliaferro is being helped by a strong running game powered by 235-pound fullback Jim Nance.

Nance led the AFL in ground-gaining for two years before he was hobbled by an ankle injury in an exhibition game last August. He underwent surgery during the winter and looks quicker than ever.

Other bright spots in the Boston camp include the return of defensive and Larry Eisenhauer and the all-around play of Jim Whalen, who led the AFL's tight ends with 47 pass interceptions in 1968. The top rookie prospects include receiver Ron Sellers, the No. 1 draft choice from Florida State, running backs Carl Garrett of New Mexico Highlands and Bob Gladioux, and offensive lineman Mike Montler of Colorado. Surprises among newcomers include defensive end John Cagloe of Clemson, who may win a starting berth, and handy man Brant Conley of Tulsa.

The enthusiasm and general organization of the new coaches has rubbed off on the Boston veterans.

"I may have the body of a 35-year-old man, but I'm 19 in spirit—this is fun again," said receiver and place-kicker Gino Cappelletti, the top scorer in AFL history.

Martin Wild About His Relief Boys

By HERSCHEL NISENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

No one hit Dave Boswell very hard Monday night, but Manager Billy Martin of the Minnesota Twins was exactly wild about his relief pitchers and you couldn't blame Cincinnati skipper Dave Bristol if he wanted to take a pot-shot at several of his butterfingers.

Both the Twins, leaders in the American League West, and Reds, pacesetters in the National League West, lost 1-inning games—and some of their slim margins, as well.

Boston tied the Twins on Tony Conigliaro's three-run homer in the eighth off Bill Zepp and beat them 7-6 on George Scott's run-scoring double against Ron Peranoski. The comeback occurred after Boswell, making his first appearance since his ballyhooed Aug. 6 fight with Manager Martin and teammate Bob Allison, checked the Red Sox on five hits through seven innings. The defeat sliced Minnesota's lead over idle Oakland to 1½ games.

Five Cincinnati errors handed Pittsburgh 10 unearned runs, including two in the ninth and seven in the 10th, and a 12-5 triumph in the only NL contest, trimming the Reds' edge over Los Angeles to a mere one-half game.

Back in the AL, Baltimore mauled Seattle 12-3, Kansas City trounced the New York Yankees 6-1 and California topped Cleveland 3-1. Besides Oakland, the Chicago White Sox, Detroit and Washington also had the night off.

Pitching for the first time since July 31, Boswell settled down after a shaky start—three runs but only one solid hit in the first inning—and blanked the Red Sox until fatigue and a receiver blister forced him out after seven with a 6-3 lead.

Carl Yastrzemski greeted Zepp, a rookie brought up from the minors last week, with a single. Reggie Smith walked and Conigliaro smashed his 16th homer. With Peranoski on the firing line in the 10th, Smith walked, Rico Petrocelli sacrificed and Conigliaro was purposely passed before Scott came through.

The Red Sox scored in the first on a walk, Dalton Jones' triple, another walk, Conigliaro's bunt single and an error. Harmon Killebrew's 33rd homer with two on and a solo shot by Graig Nettles highlighted Minnesota's six-run fourth against 16-game winner Ray Culp.

"I was tired and I had all the skin on my finger rubbed off," Boswell said. "Two or three times a year I get a blister like this. My trouble in the first inning, though, was just readjustment to pitching after a long layoff. I felt like I was over the hump in the second, when I struck out the side."

The Red Sox triumphed despite some weird baserunning by Mike Andrews. In the fifth, he went from first to third on a double by Carl Yastrzemski, then apparently thought the ball had been caught and started to retrace his steps. The Twins obligingly tagged him out.

With Andrews on second, another runner on first and one out in the ninth, Yastrzemski tapped back to the mound and Peranoski fired to second for a force play. There was no chance for a routine double play, but Andrews swooped around third and shortstop Leo Cardenas threw over to nail him.

After errors by left fielder Alex Johnson and pitcher Gerry Arriago and Roberto Clemente's single gave the Pirates an unearned run in the third, Cincinnati piled up a 5-2 lead entering the ninth on Bobby Tolan's three-run homer and single runs in the sixth and eighth.

But the big Red giveaway began in earnest in the ninth. Matty Alou's single and Willie Stargell's single accounted for one run. Stargell was on third with two out when shortstop Woody Woodward threw wide to first after fielding Manny Sanguillen's grounder. Al Oliver then doubled Sanguillen home with the tying run.

With one out in the 10th, third baseman Tony Perez bobbled Bruce Carl Canton's hopper and Alou beat out a bunt. Jose Pagan bounced back to pitcher Wayne Granger but second baseman Chico Ruiz dropped his throw, loading the bases.

Al Jackson came on to strike out Stargell but Pedro Ramos was not as fortunate. Carl Taylor greeted him with a three-run tie-breaking double. Sanguillen got an infield hit, Oliver whacked a two-run double and Gene Alley belted his fifth homer, all in the last five games.

Hot Chiefs Get Ready for the Rams

By SHEILA MORAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Chiefs, the hottest team in pro football's preseason program, began drilling for a grudge meeting with the Los Angeles Rams with two strikes against them.

Tight end Reg Carolan was to have surgery on his right knee today for an injury suffered during last weekend's 23-7 victory over Cincinnati. He probably will be lost to the Chiefs for the entire season.

Kick return specialist Noland Smith suffered a torn rib cartilage and is a doubtful starter Saturday at Los Angeles. Loss of Carolan shoves former running back Curtis McClinton into the spotlight as the likely replacement.

The Chiefs, 3-0, would dearly like to scalp the Rams. The Rams have marred the Chiefs' undefeated record in exhibition play for the past two years, beating them 44-24 and 36-16. While medical charts are against them, the Chiefs enter the game with the winner's edge. The Rams, 1-1, lost to the Cleveland Browns 10-3, last weekend and it was the first time the Rams have been stopped without scoring a touchdown since 1967. The Californians' starting offensive tackle, Charlie Cowan, may miss the Chiefs' game because of strained ligaments in his left knee, but he has a replacement in veteran Jim Wilson.

Cleveland 3-0, is prepping for a Saturday showdown with the San Diego Chargers, whose offense is trying to snap the hang-up of not being able to score touchdowns. The Chargers, 2-1, nipped the winless Oakland Raiders, 10-7 last weekend, but it was linebacker Dick Redman who scored the touchdown on an interception. In 12 quarters of play, the Chargers' offense has produced just one touchdown.

"Every time we get near the goal line something happens to ruin the drive, like penalties or mistakes," said Charger quarterback John Hadl.

San Diego Coach Sid Gillman said he's going to take his offensive players to the goal line at training camp this week "and show them there's no big fence around it."

Medically, the Chargers expect to be in midseason shape for Saturday's game. Tackle Ron Mix, who pulled a thigh muscle two weeks ago, is ready to play. So are rookie linebacker Bob Babich and guard Bill Lenkaitis, who suffered shoulder bruises during the Oakland game. Offensive back Brad Hubbert, offensive tackle Terry Owens and cornerback Bill Beauchamp, also nursing injuries, are expected to see action too.

The Dallas Cowboys, crowing over rookie running back Calvin Hill, entertain the Green Bay Packers in another grudge meeting Saturday. Hill, a Yale University product who is helping Cowboy fans forget about Don Perkins, gained 106 yards in 16 carries in Sunday's 20-17 victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

"He sort of runs like Ollie Matson and hits like Jim Brown," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "Nobody is happier than I am that we drafted him No. 1."

The Cowboys, 1-1, emerged from the 49er game unscathed and also expect that Danny Reeves and Jethro Pugh, sidelined earlier, will be ready to start against Green Bay.

In Chicago, offensive guard George Seals, who walked out of the Bears' training camp a week over a salary dispute, officially announced his retirement. Seals, who missed the Bears' 19-9 romp over Green Bay Saturday night, had been fined $2,000 by the club for missing practice since his exit.

The New York Giants, bemoaning their 37-14 loss to the New York Jets for the unofficial New York City championship, expect to cut eight to 12 players between now and their Aug. 30 date with the Philadelphia Eagles. The Jets, who came out of the game with only minor injuries, expect to lean heavily on rookies in their next game, Aug. 25 against Oakland.

The Houston Oilers, who lost to unbeaten Baltimore 33-29, will have three less players when they play host to Chicago Friday. The Oilers released Richard Marshall, a five-year defensive tackle; and rookies Wayne Kennedy, a center from Rice University, and Gene Slides, a punter from Tennessee-Martin.

The Supreme Court's function is to interpret the Constitution, not to alter or modify it.

Junior Boys in Money on Golf Circuit

By HUBERT MIZELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Professional golfer's $6 million tour is making rich men of about 200 players. Meanwhile, a less fortunate 150 are left to fight for mere tournament entries and clutch only thin hopes of making ends meet.

While stars with names like Nicklaus, Player, Floyd, Trevino, Sikes and Casper earn well over $100,000 annually, the circuit's junior grade heroes have problems keeping well fed and buying tires for coast-to-coast driving.

There has been talk of a "second tour," a virtual minor league of pro golf. The Professional Golfers Association already has taken steps in that direction with "satellite" tournaments.

Now, a fledgling group from Florida known as the World Golf Association (WGA) plans a series of $25,000 tournaments "to allow the average pro to play for better than average purses."

Robert Creasy, executive director of the PGA, said in Miami that he "can see nothing wrong with it, and we won't likely bar our members unless it conflicts with sponsors' interests on the major tour."

An earlier plan was presented by the ill-fated International Professional Golfers Association. It planned $20,000 events, but the deal fell through because of financial strains.

"We see no competition problems because I don't think anybody qualified for a tournament on the major tour will give it up to play these events," Creasy said. "As for the nonqualifiers for big events, I am reasonably sure they can play in such a sideline tournament since they are not eligible for the major one anyway."

The WGA has a $100,000 bankroll from a stock issue and has leased an entire two-story building in St. Petersburg as headquarters. The corporation was formed July 1 in the state capital at Tallahassee and a Tampa lawyer, William W. White, is president.

"We began accepting memberships a week ago," said Russ Byrd, public relations man for the WGA. "They go for $100 each and allow the member to play two events a year free."

That's just what the WBA has lined up for 1969—two events. The first one will be Sept. 26, 28 at the Lone Palm Country Club in Lakeland, Fla. The other is two weeks later at Sanford, Fla.

"We'll have a pro-amateur affair on Friday of tournament week and then 36 holes of championship golf" said Byrd. "The winner gets $5,000 of the $25,000 purse."

Champ Keeps Putting Self Out of Work

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — George Foreman, the Olympic gold medalist who is now seeking glory in professional boxing's glamor division, the heavy-weight class, keeps putting himself out of work.

It's not that Foreman is lazy, or that he dodges fights, it's just that he hasn't been able to work up a good sweat yet in his young pro career.

Foreman stopped veteran Chuck Wepner on a cut in the third round of a scheduled eight-rounder Monday night at Madison Square Garden—and now has two one-round knockouts and two three-round knockouts in four pro fights.

"I'm happy to win, but disappointed it didn't go a few more rounds," Foreman said after his latest victory. "I could use the work."

Foreman has the physical equipment—6 foot 4, 213 pounds, a good jab and punching power, but both he and his manager, Dick Sadler, know he has a lot to learn on the road to the top. And the more fighting time the better.

"He's just a pup in the woods," said Sadler. "We'll play it by ear. We want to fight as often as possible. Win, lose or draw, he's going to be a good solid fighter."

Despite his early success, the Hayward, Calif., fighter doesn't suffer any illusions of invincibility.

Asked if Wepner hurt him, Foreman replied: "Every time I step into the ring I hurt. It hurts everytime you get hit. Even a baby can hurt you."

But it was Wepner who did the hurting Monday night. The 221-pound veteran from Bayonne, N.J., was hurt by a volley of punches to the head in the second round, then was cut above the left eye later in the round. Foreman split the eye wide open in the third, and referee John Colan stopped the fight at 54 seconds of the round.

The world's first law school was founded at Bologna, in northern Italy, in the 1200s.

Palmer May Be Cured of Hip Injury

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — There is a good chance—but no guarantee—that Arnold Palmer can be completely cured of his hip trouble if he submits to proper rest and treatment, the golfer's physician said today.

Dr. Carl Eisenbeis of Pittsburgh predicted at the same time that the game's ailing hero will never be content to play on a casual basis.

"It's not his nature," doctor said. "He has won so often and so big that he feels he must always do it. He plays viciously. He wants to let the ball fly. "Rather than settle for anything less than perfect, he wouldn't play at all. It is one of the problems in treating this case."

The doctor's interview was his first since Palmer shot an agonizing 82, in the PGA Championship last Thursday in Dayton, Ohio. Palmer withdrew from the tourney, saying he would not return to competitive golf until his hip was healed.

The ailment in Palmer's right hip—a form of bursitis or inflammation in the joints—dates back to May, 1966, when he was playing in the New Orleans Open. The pain has recurred repeatedly, causing a prolonged slump.

Dr. Eisenbeis examined Palmer last Friday, after the golfer returned to his home in nearby Latrobe. He then began a new and more intensive treatment. The doctor left shortly afterward for a vacation in New Jersey but has kept in daily contact with his patient.

"The treatment is not much different than we have followed all along. It involves injections, medication and therapy. It is just more intense," the doctor explained.

He said he had recommended a longer rest and a lessening of outside activities for the millionaire businessman golfer, whose all-time earnings exceed $1 million and whose

Says Guidelines Hasn't Slowed Desegregation

By G. C. THELEN Jr., Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials in the federal office of Civil Rights say the administration's new guidelines have not slowed school desegregation. In fact, they predict a record increase this fall.

The proportion of Negroes attending formerly all-white schools is expected to jump from 20 per cent to 40 per cent.

"The desegregation plans keep pouring in," said a spokesman for the Office of Civil Rights—OCR. "The dire predictions have not been borne out."

He referred to criticism that greeted the administration's new desegregation guidelines July 3.

The guidelines call for greater emphasis on court-ordered desegregation than on administrative termination of aid. And they allow districts with problems such as lack of facilities an additional year to complete desegregation.

Pessimists predicted that southern die-hards would use the guidelines as an excuse to delay desegregation further.

But OCR officials say only 12 districts have asked to renegotiate their federally-approved plans since the guidelines were announced. The total for the year is 32. Most asking for renegotiation want additional time to complete desegregation.

"Since July 3 there have been no more or less requests for renegotiation than in similar periods," the spokesman said.

And Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, said recently here would be no renegotiation of agreed plans.

Administrative desegregation actions have been started against 48 additional districts since July 3, the OCR official said.

"It's full-speed ahead as far as we are concerned," he added.

An unresolved issue, however, is the new relationship between the OCR, an arm of HEW, and the Justice Department. The two departments were given responsibilities for school desegregation and the new guidelines.

Communication at first was poor, officials say. But each department now is letting the other know what actions it intends to take.

Justice handles court suits and OCR administrative desegregation actions.

In addition OCR officials say there has been no pressure from higher up to ease the pace of desegregation.

We don't approve of North's opening bid. North didn't think much of it himself but he still decided to go from two to three no-trump on the theory that his six diamonds might all turn out to be tricks.

He was wrong about that since West decided to open the queen of hearts rather than a spade. East covered his partner's queen with the king and returned the suit. Declarer had to take the third heart with dummy's ace and the reentry to the diamond suit was gone.

South decided that East would hold the king of clubs as part of his spade overcall and got to his hand with a finesse of the queen. Then he led the seven of diamonds.

If West had been sleeping quietly the double finesse of the 10 would have given South five diamond tricks but West was wide-awake. He made the second hand high play of the king. South could not afford to let the king hold. West would have cashed two more hearts so South had to find another way to make his contract.

He did this by leading a second club. East played low and South rose with the ace and threw East in with the king. East led the jack of spades. South finessed his queen and, when it held, was able to wind up with four clubs, two spades, two diamonds and one heart for a nine-trick total.

East could have found an amazing play to beat the contract. No—it wouldn't be to rise with his king of clubs the first or second time the suit was led. South could just duck. East would have had to discard that king of clubs on the third heart!

However, South could have foiled that play by winning the second heart, not the third.

Doubles Prove Arkansas Challenges Sales Firm Statement

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A couple of two-run doubles by Jim Vopicka and Luis Lagunas vaulted the El Paso Sun Kings to a 5-4 Texas League baseball victory over Arkansas Monday night.

Vopicka socked two runs home with a double in the second and Lagunas followed suit in the third. Rick Ganulin scored on a throwing error for what proved to be the winning run in the fifth.

The Travelers finally got an attack going in the seventh with three runs, highlighted by a double by Len Boyer and a triple by Luis Melendes.

Manual O'Jay went six innings for the Sun Kings to pick up his second victory. Dick Seminoff, now 8-10 was the loser.

In other Texas League games Monday night, San Antonio beat Amarillo 9-4 and Albuquerque beat Shreveport 8-5. The Dallas-Fort Worth at Memphis game was rained out.

Poor People's March Decision Slated Today

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rev. Cato Brooks of Forrest City, leader of a proposed "poor people's march" from West Memphis to Little Rock, says he will announce today whether the march will be held.

Brooks, co-chairman of the Committee for Peaceful Coexistence, met with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller for about an hour Monday to discuss a list of demands Brooks had submitted last Friday.

Brooks and the governor are scheduled to meet again today at the governor's mansion.

Brooks said Monday he would announce at 10 a.m. today the decision on whether the march would be called off or begin as scheduled Wednesday morning.

The governor submitted his response to Brooks' demands at the meeting Monday and Brooks said he would study the material with Negro leaders in Forrest City Monday night.

Brooks said that it appeared that the governor and other state officials "have shown good faith" in preparing the response.

However, he added, "At this minute, the march is still on."

Brooks said he would reserve further comment on the response until he could "carefully study" it.

Included in the demands were the elimination of poverty in East Arkansas by creating jobs and improving welfare and food programs, police protection for minority groups, improved housing and education and judicial justice.

The governor's meeting was delayed for 30 minutes while he talked with a White House official.

Rockefeller said later that Washington officials were observing closely how Arkansas handled the situation in event such problems arose in other states.

The governor refused to fire St. Francis County Welfare Director Calvin Stackhouse unless the group could document charges of discrimination and abuse leveled against him.

Rockefeller also declined to remove state employees in East Arkansas simply to give the posts to Negroes.

"However, I said that I would consider transfers in borderline cases," the governor said.

The governor said that many of the demands in the areas of education, local police employment for Negroes and the dismissal of teachers would have to be met on the local level.

Also killed was Steven Parent, 18, a friend of an estate caretaker.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

HOW UP TIGHT CAN PARENTS GET?

Dear Helen: I wrote to The Tigers, the battalion in Vietnam that wanted mail from home, and got a very nice letter in reply.

The problem is that my parents don't think I should correspond with this young man. They say he could be of a different race, or otherwise "not the right kind" and that later in life someone would hold this against me. They're very big about their "Mayflower roots."

I don't want to marry him, or even meet him—I just want to cheer him and his friends up a little. After, I'm 18, and not a giddy little girl who falls in love with a letter. Talking about my town or school won't "lead him on."

I respect my parents' opinion, but answered the letter anyway. They didn't "forbid," just warned. What's your opinion? — WUNDERING

P.S. I'm really arguing with myself, aren't I?

Dear Won: I think you just won the argument. Happy writing!

And congratulations for breaking away from the "WASPs" next!—H.

Dear Helen: My mother has been so nice to us, and so understanding and well, just great, that I want to do something special for her.

I'm already doing the dishes and ironing. I am 15 years old, and on a babysitting-income budget, so we'll have money to spend. Do you have any real great suggestions?—READER

Dear Reader: You're doing something special for your mother every day. Honey, just by showing her how much you appreciate her. This is the greatest gift a parent can receive!

But I understand that "Something more" feeling. When you love a person, it's such fun, making her happy.

So how about a "Mother's Day in August"? Bring her breakfast in bed, and let her get up to find notes in unusual places—the refrigerator, on the vacuum sweeper, the curtains, the sewing machine, even around the cat's neck—telling her in many ways she is Mom of the

FAA Misleads Public on Air Safety

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A study sponsored by a group of Republican congressmen charges that the Federal Aviation Administration uses misleading and irrelevant statistics to paint a rosy picture of air travel safety.

The report concludes that civilian aviation too often sacrifices safety to convenience, and says that the FAA has failed to take advantage of the broad legal powers delegated to it.

And the report questions the effectiveness of the National Transportation Safety Board—NTSB—in investigating air crashes and recommends abolishing the Civil Aeronautics Board—CAB.

"The accident rate statistics produced by the FAA are misleading and imply that a growth of safety has occurred, which is a dubious conclusion," states the 81-page report by Reps. James Harvey of Michigan, Frank Horton of New York,

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Q-In my work, my hands are constantly in and out of hot soapy water. Now my fingers are splitting and peeling. Can this be prevented?

A - This condition, sometimes called dishpan hands, is often kept going indefinitely by over-treatment with strong disinfectants or antibiotic ointments. If you must put your hands in water containing a soap or detergent, you should wear rubber gloves that are lined with cotton. Remove the gloves as soon as you are through and put them where the inside lining can dry out. They should be replaced with new ones at frequent intervals.

Q-My doctor says I have carpal tunnel syndrome in both hands. What does this mean? Would an operation cure it?

A-This is a burning distress in the thumb, index, middle and half of the ring finger plus the corresponding two-thirds of the palm. Later there may be weakness in this area. It may be caused by anything that presses on the median nerve as it passes through the tunnel formed by the muscles and ligaments of the wrist. It may be associated with arthritis but, in many cases, the underlying cause cannot be found.

If treatment is sought early enough, an injection of hydrocortisone repeated weekly for several weeks may cure it. If it is chronic and growing progressively worse, the pressure on the nerve should be relieved by a surgical operation.

Q-My doctor says I have trigger finger. He gave me two injections of hydrocortisone and said that, if this doesn't help, he may have to operate. What causes this condition and what is the best treatment?

A-The cause is a thickening of one of the tendons of a finger or a narrowing of the tendon sheath. In this condition, closing the fist causes a snapping sound. In most cases, relief is obtained by an operation to increase the size of the tendon sheath.

Q-What harm may result from a woman eating about a teaspoonful of sand a day. Will her system eliminate it?

A-There will be no harm from this if the sand is clean. It will not be digested and will be eliminated without any trouble. It may be, however, that her system lacks iron.

Deadly Gas Transported Unnoticed

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — While attention was focused on a shipment of surplus military gas, hundreds of trucks and trains carrying deadly commercial cargoes were rolling across the country unnoticed by the public last week.

Recent concern over movement of potentially hazardous materials has been aimed chiefly at the military and its secretive chemical biological warfare program. But routine shipments of deadly chemicals needed to purify water, fertilize gardens, manufacture plastics and for thousands of other uses have been moving from producers to consumers without a hitch.

"I couldn't tell you how many cars with hazardous materials are in motion right this minute," William F. Black of the Federal Railroad Administration said Monday. "But many, many cars carrying corrosive, radioactive or explosive material are moving on just about every through freight train."

An Association of American Railroads spokesman said 82 million tons of non-military hazardous materials were transported by rail in 1967, the latest year for which figures are available.

"We're shipping an awful lot of this stuff with absolutely no problem," another AAR official said. "When we do have an accident it's going to get quite a bit of play because the results are so severe."

The results were severe on New Years Day 1968 in a two-train smashup in Dunreith, Ind. The fire and explosion of a tank car filled with ethylene oxide destroyed a tomato cannery and seven homes and damaged 87 other residences and businesses.

There were no fatalities and only five injuries. A spokesman at the National Transportation Safety Board said there have been at least six other accidents since Dunreith in which towns have been entirely or partially evacuated.

The most commonly transported of the hazardous materials according to the AAR, are liquid petroleum gas—LPG—and anhydrous ammonia. Some 14½ billion gallons of LPG were transported to U.S. consumers in 1967. Four billion gallons went by truck, 1.3 billion gallons by rail and the rest by pipeline or a combination of pipeline and truck or rail.

"If a tanker full of LPG ruptured and caught fire you'd have a pretty good conflagration," says William K. Byrd of the Department of Transportation's Office of Hazardous Materials.

"And chlorine. It's been shipped for 25 years in exactly the kind of container they shipped the phosgene in last week," he said. Two trains carrying poisonous World War I phosgene gas from the Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado to

New York State and Louisiana attracted considerable attention as a threat to residents along the routes. "But we really need these things," Byrd said. "Anhydrous ammonia is a fertilizer that seeks moisture. If it comes in contact with human tissue it will eat you up, it corrodes the skin. But without it you probably wouldn't be eating tomorrow. Without these hazardous materials the whole economy of the country would collapse. You couldn't even manufacture the shirt on your back."

Then there are the Class B poisons. These include many herbicides and insecticides such as the widely used parathion. About 600,000 tons of parathion were shipped by all means of transportation in 1967.

Parathion's danger is not necessarily immediate, but if it leaks during shipping and gets in foodstuffs it can kill the eventual consumer.

There apparently are no significant instances of this in American history but 80 persons died in Colombia in 1967 after eating bread made from flour contaminated in a truck that also carried parathion.

The nine-banded armadillo or peba bears its young in litters all of the same sex.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Officials have noted a decided recent increase in the number of unwed mothers who elect to keep their babies, and are exploring the reasons.

In the Los Angeles area, Booth Memorial Hospital, the Florence Crittenton Service, Vista del Mar and the Big Sister League all noted boosts of between 2 and 4 per cent among unwed mothers who decline to give their youngsters up for adoption.

St. Anne's Maternity Hospital, reporting for the first half of 1969, said 24 out of every 100 mothers now decide to keep their children — six more than the 1968 rate.

"Only recently has the trend become apparent in the direction of mothers keeping their illegitimate children," Mazy Yuridin, director of technical information for the National Council on Illegitimacy in New York City, said in an interview here.

"It is so common for divorced parents to be raising a family singlehandedly that it does not seem surprising that young unwed mothers are deciding to raise their babies alone."

Several questions are under study by staff members at various Los Angeles area agencies dealing with the problem of illegitimacy:

— Are the women products of divorced homes?

— Does keeping their babies make them feel they finally have a purpose in life?

— Is the new generation extending its live-for-today philosophy into motherhood?

— Or are these young women taking a stand on society's confused moral standards?

Mothers interviewed told generally of joy and new purpose that came into their lives after their decisions to accept their youngsters and become member families.

Realtors Back Industrial Foundation; Conservative Court

Leonard F. Ellis, secretary-treasurer of the Hope Board of Realtors, has sent me the following copy of a letter he wrote Aug. 18 to Thomas E. Hays, Jr., chairman of the Share Sale Committee of the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation:

"This is to inform you that today the Hope Board of Realtors pledged 100-percent participation of its membership to purchase stock in the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation."

"We believe this is the first organization in Hope pledging its entire membership to this worthy cause. 'Our new members are buying stock for the first time, but several of us purchased stock in the original issue back in 1958, and we are going on another round.'"

The Foundation last week issued a call for another cash contribution of 10 per cent of the stock pledges, which, according to The Star's payments, would bring the total paid in to about 40 per cent of the original stock-purchase pledge.

Considering that the Foundation was established 11 years ago this is a quite modest showing. We are living in a prosperous era, and this is the time when we should be concentrating on making the Foundation stock fully subscribed.

Only if we have promotion money actually on hand can we expect to take advantage of industrial expansion opportunities as they appear.

The Foundation already has helped several new firms to set up here—but now the Foundation needs additional cash, and the current call for 10 per cent of your stock pledge should be met promptly.

President Nixon's second nomination of a justice of the United States Supreme Court goes to U. S. Judge Clemente F. Haynsworth, Jr., of Greenville, S. C., — like his first nominee, a conservative.

He will succeed to the position made vacant when Justice Abe Fortas resigned.

Presidential nominees for the Supreme Court have in recent decades tended to be less judicial and more professorial or political. It was not a one-party fault. While Democrats held the White House some of these years it was a Republican, Dwight Eisenhower, who named as Chief Justice Gov. Warren of California — a man who never sat as a judge and reputedly never tried a law case.

If recent Supreme Court decisions have been somewhat erratic and irrelevant it's hardly surprising. You get understandable decisions from the high bench only when trained judges are presiding.

Both of Nixon's nominees have been drawn from the ranks of veteran judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeals. Judge Haynsworth before his Supreme Court appointment was chief judge of the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va.

This is a good omen for peace and security in these United States. Also, it may indicate that the American people have finally remembered a fact overlooked until recently — that it is the man they elect President who is primarily responsible for the caliber of judges who sit on the Supreme Court.

Outlawed Irish Pose a Threat

By COLIN FROST

Associated Press Writer
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The outlawed Irish Republican Army threatened to renew Northern Ireland's religious warfare as politicians and other leaders worked today to bring lasting peace in the tense, battle-scarred state.

IRA Chief of Staff Cathal Goulding announced in Dublin that volunteers were being mobilized to fight in the North and said some fully-equipped units already had been sent to Belfast. Goulding demanded that the Ulster government disband the B-Specials, the all-Protestant police reserves who have been accused of attacking Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic minority.

Goulding's statement was condemned as ill-timed and inflammatory by the Dublin government and moderate newspapers in the republic. The IRA is illegal in both Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic.

Prime Ministers Harold Wilson of Britain and James Chichester-Clark of Northern Ireland were to meet in London today to discuss ways of keeping the peace and satisfying Catholic demands in the six northern counties still linked to Britain.

Big Difference in the Pay by States to Those Receiving Welfare

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Supreme Court struck down state residence requirements for people receiving welfare, there was apprehension in capitals of states that are most generous to their poor.

Some officials plainly feared they would be engulfed by waves of out-of-staters coming to where the welfare was generous. But so far there is little evidence this is happening.

There is a major difference across the land in the payments for the 10 million people receiving some form of assistance.

New Jersey pays an average $65.30 a month per person in its aid to families with dependent children. Mississippi pays $9.70. A family of four receiving welfare in New Jersey averages $263 a month. The same family would get $38.75 in Mississippi.

Those are the extremes. The rest of the 50 states fall in between.

Nearly three months after the Supreme Court's ruling became effective it appears the fears of mass migration of people on the dole were largely groundless. An Associated Press survey finds that states barely felt a change.

requirement, the court said, inhibited a citizen's freedom to travel and made an invidious distinction between needy persons who had lived in a state for a year and those who had not.

Delaware, Guam, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maine, New York, Puerto Rico, Vermont, the Virgin Islands and Massachusetts had no residency requirements in any welfare program. Alaska, Georgia and New Jersey had no requirements in aid to families with dependent children, commonly called AFDC, but had some in other aid programs.

Seven states and the District of Columbia had residence requirements but had not enforced them for more than a year because the rules were being challenged in courts—California, Connecticut, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

Relief Sent to Aid GIs Badly Mauled

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of U.S. infantrymen were rushed to the rolling foothills 30 miles south of Da Nang today to relieve two American companies badly battered by a North Vietnamese force seven times their size.

Associated Press Correspondent Richard Pyle reported that the two companies from the 196th Light Infantry Brigade, totaling 177 men, had suffered about 40 per cent casualties—15 men killed and more than 50 wounded. But American officers said the outnumbered infantrymen together with American bombers and artillery had killed 148 North Vietnamese.

Four other fights flared in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces, and U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported killing a total of 251 North Vietnamese in that area. U.S. casualties were put at 16 killed and more than 70 wounded.

Fighting also continued on a smaller scale in the Saigon region, with four skirmishes ranging.

Haynsworth Can Expect Rough Time

By JOHN CHADWICK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., President Nixon's nominee for Supreme Court justice, can expect rougher going next month than a dozen years ago when he won easy Senate approval as a federal judge.

On March 7, 1957, Haynsworth was showered with praise during a 70-minute hearing before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee. Then, less than a month later, he was confirmed unanimously by the Senate as a judge on the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The full Senate Judiciary Committee will meet Sept. 9 for a hearing on his nomination for the Supreme Court seat that Abe Fortas resigned in mid-May. Committee member Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, said

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Civil defense officials said the mounting death toll reached 100 Monday night as reports trickled in from Mississippi's ravaged coastal strip—shattered by the worst hurricane to ever hit America's mainland.

State Sen. Nat Cassibry, Civil Defense coordinator here, said the toll included the dead from all along the Mississippi coast, stricken by 150 mile an hour winds, raging tides and fire.

"We know where there are more bodies," he said. "We estimate the final toll will be between 150 and 200. There were over 2,000 injured."

In addition, one dead was reported in Louisiana—where officials said the towns of Boothville, Triumph and Venice were destroyed—and three Cubans were reported killed when the storm brushed by the Communist island.

Rescue work by 1,500 National Guardsmen, 500 Civil Defense men and volunteers was hampered by the weight of the wreckage left by Camille, the most powerful hurricane ever to hit the American mainland.

"We have enough people to do the work," said Cassibry. "What we need is supplies."

Supplies were coming. At Atlanta, a dozen C124 Globemasters at Dobbins Air Force Base were assigned to airlift 375,000 pounds of food to Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi. New Orleans shipped 13,000 gallons of water in tank cars to ravaged Bay St. Louis, just across the state line.

President Nixon declared the state's coastal strip a disaster area, making it eligible for an initial $1 million in federal assistance.

Camille, lashing first at the southeastern edge of Louisiana, shrieked onto the Mississippi coast Sunday night.

The area of maximum force—around the eye—included the port city of Gulfport, with 30,000 residents and nearby Biloxi with 4,000. Thousands of residents of the coastal strip, warned of coming tides of up to 20 feet above normal, fled inland before Camille arrived.

Biloxi and Gulfport were under 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew. National Guardsmen, armed with rifles, patrolled to prevent looting.

A curfew also was in force at Bogalusa, a city of some 21,500 in Louisiana. Mayor Curt Siegelin said power lines were down, drinking water was scarce and the city in "critical condition."

Martial law was imposed in Louisiana's Plaquemines Parish (county) at sundown Monday. Deputies with cocked shotguns turned back angry residents trying to check on their homes. The parish is a low delta land, laid down over the centuries by the Mississippi River's silt. Officials said the communities of Venice, Boothville and Triumph were wiped out.

L.R. Board Prepares for Disorders

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock City Board of Directors approved Monday night at proposal to allow the board or the mayor to impose a curfew on the city when conditions exist that might place residents in danger.

The vote on the proposal was 4-3, with Mayor Haco Boyd casting the deciding vote. Under the proposal, the curfew would automatically last five days unless rescinded earlier by the board or mayor. The curfew could be extended beyond five days. It also includes a provision to prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages and flammable liquids in containers.
